A BILL

To require a report on the participation of Afghan women in negotiations and dialogue relating to the Afghan peace process and a strategy for post-conflict engagement by the United States in Afghanistan, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Afghan Women’s In-5 elusion in Negotiations Act”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress finds the following:

1 (1) The Women, Peace, and Security Act of 2 2017 was signed into law on October 6, 2017, re-
3 quiring the United States Government to promote 4 the meaningful participation of women in all aspects 5 of overseas conflict prevention, management, and 6 resolution, and postconflict relief and recovery ef-
7 forts.

8 (2) The meaningful participation of women in 9 peace negotiations has been shown to make resulting 10 peace agreements 35 percent more likely to last, ac-
11 cording to the International Peace Institute, and 12 their sustained engagement and leadership in con-
13 flict prevention and conflict resolution processes
14 helps to promote more inclusive and democratic soci-15 ties and is critical to the long-term stability of 16 countries and regions.

17 (3) The United States National Security Strat-
18 egy states, “governments that fail to treat women
19 equally do not allow their societies to reach their po-
20 tential” and “societies that empower women to par-
21 ticipate fully in civic and economic life are more 22 prosperous and peaceful”.

23 (4) Today, millions of Afghan women have 24 voted in elections and women have a significant 25 presence in the National Assembly, ministries, local

1 government, and the diplomatic corps including as 2 Afghanistan's Ambassador to the United States.

3 (5) According to the United States Institute of 4 Peace, more than 68,000 Afghan women are em-
5 ployed in schools and universities, and at least 6 10,000 women are doctors and health care profes-
7 sionals.

8 (6) Afghan women entrepreneurs have invested
9 an estimated $77 million in their businesses, cre-
10 ating 77,000 jobs for Afghans.

11 (7) In 2015, Afghanistan approved a National 12 Action Plan on Women, Peace, and Security to in-13 crease women's participation in peace processes and 14 the security sector as well as address issues around 15 protection and relief and recovery services.

16 (8) In 2018, Afghanistan reaffirmed its Law to 17 Eliminate Violence Against Women.

18 (9) Afghan women have advocated relentlessly
19 for peace, equality, and basic rights under the 20 Taliban, including by educating the next generation
21 of Afghans in underground schools and successfully
22 negotiating with the Taliban to reopen girls' schools,
23 release hostages, and prevent violence.

24 (10) Afghan women participated in the 2001
25 Bonn International Conference on Afghanistan, par-

1 ticipated alongside then-President Karzai at the 2 2010 National Consultative Peace Jirga on reconcili-
3 ation between the Afghan government and insurgent
4 leaders, served on the country’s Provincial Peace
5 Councils, and today serve on Afghanistan’s High
6 Peace Council.

7 (11) Through various coalitions, women have 8 mobilized to demand an immediate ceasefire and 9 their rightful seat at the table including through ral-
10 lies and consultations with communities across all of 11 Afghanistan’s provinces, including a “Peace Consult-12 ative Loya Jirga” which brought together politi-13 cians, tribal elders, and other prominent leaders to 14 decide on a common approach for peace talks with 15 the Taliban.

16 (12) Over the first seven rounds of bilateral
17 talks between the United States and the Taliban,
18 neither the Afghan Government nor Afghan women
19 or civil society groups were permitted to participate 20 in the negotiations.
